

State eyes new investors to boost manufacturing sector

Enterprise

By Nanjina Wamuswa | 3w ago | 3 min read

Industry PS Juma Mukhwana (second right) during a media briefing on the International Textile Machinery Exhibition (ITME) Africa and Middle East 2023. [Nanjina Wamuswa, Standard]

Kenya is encouraging partners to set up more factories and warehouses instead of exhibitions in the country since it has already established a favourable environment for foreign investors through supportive policies.

Speaking during a media briefing on the International Textile Machinery Exhibition (ITME) Africa and Middle East 2023, scheduled to start tomorrow, Industry Principal Secretary Juma Mukhwana said the partnerships should be in line with Kenya's vision of reducing and eliminating the importation of textile-related products.

<https://www.standardmedia.co.ke/health/enterprise/article/2001486288/state-eyes-new-investors-to-boost-manufacturing-sector>